Could You Really Make Money Online

Yesterday I had received an email from Jossef, a regular list broadcast from him, but I loved it and want to share it with you.

"Making money in general require work or/and money. It is a trade concept; you can trade time for money with your day job, or trade money for money with the investment concept.

There are no other ways of making money, other than the lottery, and like offline world making money online is almost the same, but because you can make money online from your own home or office, and no one is watching you or monitoring your work, the money making process online need to be treated as your own business.

No matter what are the ways you are using, to make money online is a business that is run, managed and promoted by you through you and for you.

One guaranteed way to make money online is by having a website and promote offers or advertizing through this website, having your own website with your own domain name will provide you with a platform to do business.

One term you could find online is Cost Per Action (CPA), which mean you can get paid per action done by you, you can sell a product or service and earn a commission from the owner, or you can refer a customer and earn only by referring him even if he did not buy. The focus here on the word ACTION you are getting paid because you have preformed an action of some kind.

So if you thought or mislead to think that you can make money online without doing anything, you must understand that it is impossible. However you can make a lot of money online for simple and easy actions.

A couple of days ago, I have received an e-mail from my sponsor to ProfitMatic, his name is Mike he introduced ProfitMatic to me and it took me about 8 month to understand the power of ProfitMatic. In his email he announced that he had reached 8000 members; he is earning a minimum commission of $10 on each member that mean he is making $80,000 each month. That if we assumed that his members do not refer others, and it's a wrong assumption. I am a member in his direct downline and I have referred some members to the program, and Mike is also earning a commission from my downline.

So Mike is earning at least $100,000 each month from only one network opportunity that he promote, and I can assure you that he has different websites and he is selling his own products, and he is a member of tens of other network opportunities. He now owns a $20 million a year business.

Personally if I can reach $80,000 a month it will be a dream come true, and let me tell you that I will reach it eventually. I know it's a matter of time only.

The online business is the only chance for me to prove myself, and now I don't need to impress anyone and hope he will award me for that.

There are several ways to make money online, but no matter what way you chose, you must understand that you are the one who is making the money, not the strategy neither the opportunity.

But to do it and succeed you must learn, you need to treat it as your own business and learn everything about that business. If its affiliate marketing, network marketing or simple pay per click, you must become expert with what you do, you must know everything about your business, every strategy, news, tips and exactly how others in this business are acting.

For me to learn how Mike did reached this success does not mean I need to buy his product, but it will be wise to monitor his websites and his promotions.

Mike is a business man who does not share his strategies not even with his members, I have joined profitmatic in his team and I never received a personal email from him, but I cannot do business like him, sometimes I could not even read my emails or I have no time to reply. But I always treat my members, followers as a team. They work with me I need to stay in connection help them and guide them.

My website The Home Business Guide was designed to do exactly that, present all the information I know and allowed to share with all my team members, I want them to succeed and I will make money from their success.

So if you are interested to learn about affiliate marketing go to affiliate marketing section in my website.

Or network marketing

And I really recommend the network marketing, it is the best money makers online, and even if you want to make money with different strategies and method it does not mean you cannot have at least one network marketing opportunity to work with.

You can promote network marketing opportunities in several ways and you can reach high residual income from it. So it will be very wise to choose at least one opportunity and start promote, success with network marketing can easily determine your success with the make money online business.

Go to network marketing opportunities and see which opportunities I promote and choose one of them, and if you want my recommendation I will recommend Profitmatic because it has a product that is very helpful and useful for your online business.

Your basic instinct will be “He want me to join so he will earn a commission”, and it’s a hundred percent true, but you know also that mike is earning a commission because I joined with him, and you will also earn a commission when “jon” will join you. That is the idea.

If you are hundred percent sure that you will never refer any one to the program, so don’t waste your time and money with it. But if you are not sure, willing to try and serious enough to put in it a good effort, you should try it, you should give it your maximum.

If you don’t like my opportunities, that is really fine, you can look for other opportunity that you like and can promote. Network marketing is a great way to make huge income no matter what opportunity you promote as long as it’s genuine and legit.

That’s it for now, and I really recommend that you spend some time on the Home Business Guide
